Changing a friend's diaper

Recently, Vanilla and I befriended Tokai Teio. After one of the thrilling races that Tokai won, we decided to spend the rest of the day together. However, upon entering our house, she seemed unusually tense. Something was wrong. Vanilla, with her keen nose, detected the scent of urine and immediately realized that something wasn't right. Without hesitation, she lifted Teio's dress, revealing a wet diaper with carrot motifs before our eyes. Teio blushed, but before she could become too embarrassed, Vanilla decided to share her secret —she also wears diapers. We suggested to Teio that we help her change. Teio, with relief in her eyes, took out spare diapers from the bag she always carried with her. Together, we went to a special room where we placed a changing table on a soft carpet. Teio put her race trophy on the floor, while Vanilla and I prepared for the change.

Despite the initial embarrassment, Teio quickly calmed down under the friendly atmosphere created by our supportive duo. After removing the wet diaper, Vanilla carefully wiped Teio's skin, paying attention to every detail. Meanwhile, I took care of properly powdering her bottom to ensure her maximum comfort. During the changing, Teio explained to us that she wears diapers during races because sometimes accidents happen due to excitement.

Feeding a friend

After changing Teio's diaper, Vanilla asked Teio if she was hungry. Teio nodded affirmatively. We helped her stand up and guided her to the kitchen. Vanilla pulled up the feeding chair to the table. I fetched the carrot cream from the cupboard, thinking it would be perfect for Teio. At that moment, Vanilla whispered in my ear to also take the laxative from the cabinet. While Vanilla was putting food in the bowl, seasoning it with laxatives, I comforted Teio to divert her attention. I noticed Vanilla adding the laxative to her own bottle as well. Meanwhile, I prepared food for myself, admiring how much Vanilla enjoyed feeding others. She took a spoon and began feeding Teio, encouraging her to open her mouth wide. Occasionally, Vanilla paused to take a sip of milk from her bottle.

About halfway through the meal, I heard a gurgling sound from Teio's stomach. She began squirming in her chair, saying her stomach hurt and asking Vanilla if she could go to the bathroom. However, Vanilla replied, "But darling, you have the toilet on you!" Teio felt very embarrassed, but the pain was increasing. Eventually, she reluctantly did a poop in her diaper. As the smell started to spread throughout the room, I decided to check Vanilla's diaper as well, since she also had the laxative from the bottle. And as it turned out, Vanilla had also pooped! I told them that I would change and wash them in the bathroom tub, but Vanilla insisted that we finish eating first. After finishing, I took the girls to the bathroom.

Bathing a friend

We entered our white and navy blue bathroom together, where a large bathtub dominated the space. I turned on the water and asked the girls to wait until the tub was full. I added lavender bath gel, filling the room with a pleasant scent. Vanilla was the first to get into the tub, followed by Teio. The large tub comfortably accommodated both of them. Teio wanted to take out her pacifier, but Vanilla persuaded her to keep it in her mouth. Soon, the tub was filled with bubbles. Vanilla hugged Teio, and I took a sponge and began washing them. I started with Vanilla's back, then her belly, intimate parts, and legs. Next, I gently rinsed off the soap with the showerhead. I repeated the same process with Teio, carefully washing every part of her body. When I approached her intimate parts, Teio jumped and blushed, and soon I felt a stream of her urine. Oh, Teio, someone here might need to wear diapers permanently if you pee so often," I said with a smile. Teio was all blushed, and at that moment, Vanilla grabbed Teio's breasts and started massaging them.

Teio tried to resist, but it was in vain. I gently rinsed the foam off Teio, and then it was time to wash their hair. I wet their hair and applied strawberry shampoo. After finishing washing, I helped them out of the tub and wrapped each of them in a towel to dry off. I carefully dried them off and then led them to our room. I laid Vanilla on the changing table and put a fresh Little Lion diaper on her, one of her favorites. I thoroughly powdered her bottom and closed the diaper, then helped her put on a dress. Next, it was Teio's turn. I laid her on the changing table and put a Bunny Hoops diaper on her, pink with a carrot motif, which she clearly liked. She smiled when she saw it. Then I dressed her in her outfit. Finally, I dried their hair and combed it. I planned to go to the living room and watch a cartoon with them, but the girls had a different idea. They grabbed my hands and led me towards the changing table.

Helping a friend

The girls laid me down on the changing table in our room. Teio stood close to my head, gently stroking me and holding my hand. Vanilla opened a drawer and took out a Bunny Hops diaper, which I really like, so she decided to put it on me. Teio continued stroking me while Vanilla removed my shoes, pants, and socks, and finally my underwear. When she noticed they were slightly wet, she said she needed to make sure I used diapers more often because I clearly needed them! Vanilla took out a pack of wet wipes and carefully cleaned my intimate areas. I blushed, which Teio noticed, patting me on the chest and smiling broadly. She was very sweet.

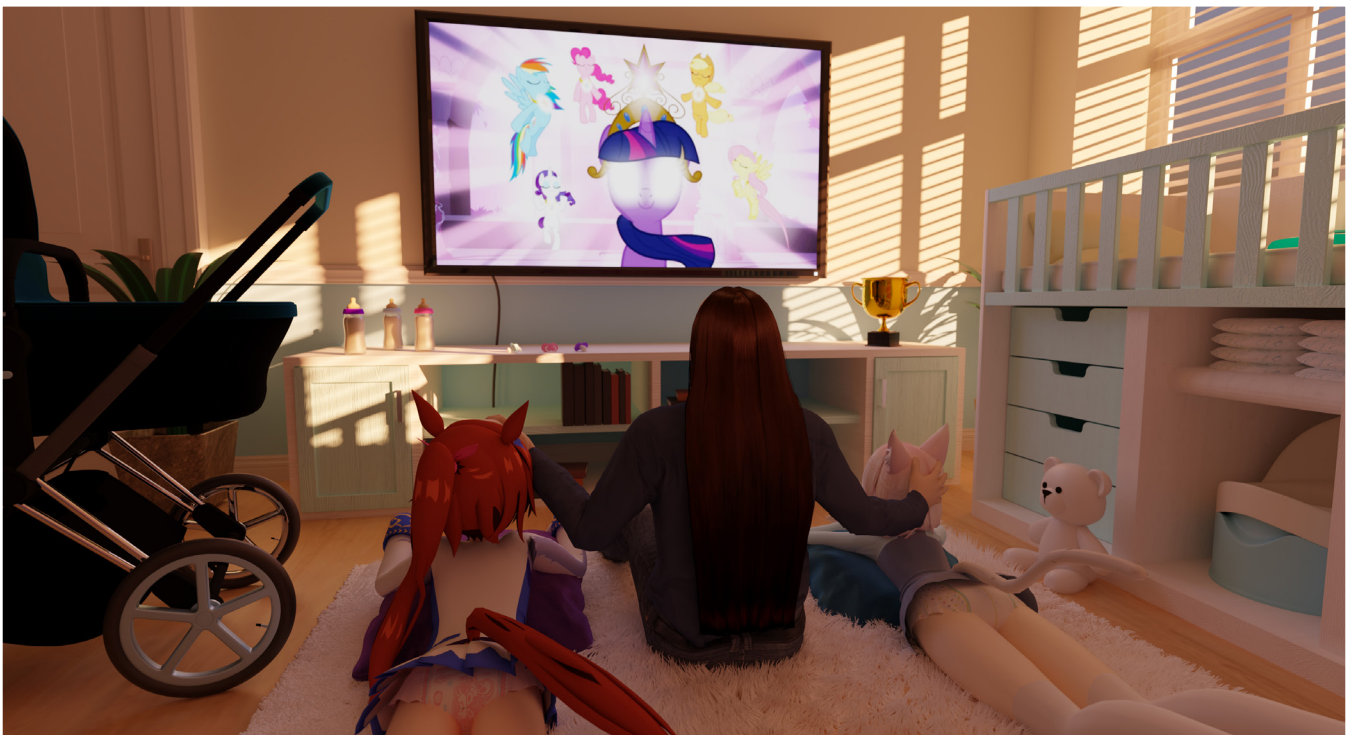

After cleaning me, Vanilla lifted my legs and placed the diaper under my bottom, then thoroughly sprinkled everything with powder. Finally, she closed the diaper and gave it a kiss. Then, along with Teio, they helped me get up from the changing table. "Shall we watch some cartoons?" I asked. Vanilla and Teio were very happy to hear that, so we settled down together on the carpet in front of the TV

Watching with a Friend

The girls took pillows from our cot bed Teio took the purple one, and Vanilla the blue one. Vanilla placed her pillow on the carpet and then lay down on it. Seeing this, Teio did the same. Meanwhile, I turned on the TV and asked Vanilla what she would like to watch. She answered, "My Little Pony!" I have a feeling she did this on purpose, knowing that Teio is a horse girl. I asked Teio if she had ever watched that show before. She said no. The girls made some space for me on the carpet, so I sat down between them. The episode started, and the girls seemed very interested in the show. I began to stroke their heads. Teio seemed pleased with the gesture.

We watched the first episode, and then the next one started. At some point, Teio began to yawn. I thought she must be tired, especially after the race and all the adventures she had with us. I looked at Vanilla and noticed she had fallen asleep! Then I glanced back at Teio and saw that she had also fallen asleep. They looked very sweet. I got up and went to my computer for a while, giving them some time to rest. After about an hour, I quietly woke Vanilla. We decided not to wake Teio and to take her to her home. Vanilla brought our baby pram closer, and I gently lifted Teio. I noticed that her diaper was completely yellow she must have peed while sleeping. We decided not to change her diaper right away. I carefully placed the sleeping Teio in the pram, while Vanilla took a bag with new diapers and other changing supplies.

Strolling with a Friend

After leaving the house, we headed towards Teio's dormitory. It wasn't far, and the path led through a charming park. Vanilla and I were pushing a pram, in which Teio was comfortably lying. When we reached the park, I noticed Silence Suzuka resting on a bench. She was someone special to us, so naturally, we stopped by her. Suzuka stood up, looked into the pram, and asked in surprise, "Teio? What are you doing here?" Smiling, I put my finger to my lips. "Shhh, Teio is sleeping! She came over to play with us, and now we're taking her home." Suzuka, slightly confused, nodded. At that moment, Vanilla sensed something. She checked my diaper and Teio's diaper. It turned out Teio was wet, but the smell was coming from someone else. Without hesitation, Vanilla lifted Suzuka's skirt, revealing a wet Kiddo diaper. Suzuka immediately blushed and covered her face with her hands, clearly embarrassed. She was silent for a moment, unable to find the words, but finally, she quietly said, "I see that you wear diapers too, just like me. I really like them." Vanilla beamed with joy and enthusiastically hugged Suzuka, happy that they had discovered something that connected them in such a special way. It was a moment full of joy and understanding, which brought them even closer. Vanilla, delighted by this, hugged Suzuka and said with a smile, "Oh, it looks like we'll need to change both you and Teio! It's not healthy to walk around in such wet diapers!" Vanilla remarked.

Strolling with a Friend

At that moment, Teio woke up, first looking at me with a smile, then at Vanilla and Suzuka. "Suzuka? What are you doing here... and why are you wearing a diaper too?" she asked, surprised. Suzuka, still slightly blushing, replied with a soft laugh, "Hey, Teio! I also like wearing diapers, just like Vanilla and you!" It was an incredibly cute moment they all suddenly realized they had more in common than they had expected. After a while, we continued on our way towards the dorms. Vanilla and Suzuka pushed the pram where Teio lay, while I walked alongside, chatting about our interests. During the walk, we invited Suzuka to join us for some fun at our place, and she reacted enthusiastically her tail began wagging happily, as she had found someone who shared her love for diapers. After saying our goodbyes at the dorm, we handed Teio and Suzuka fresh diapers so they could change in their rooms. In the end, Vanilla jumped into the stroller, and together we set off back to our apartment, feeling a sense of joy and fulfillment.

It was a wonderful day; together with Vanilla, we got to know Teio and Suzuka better. We will definitely have a lot of fun together in the future!
